Integrated Design

CDH is not a conventional design firm. Under one roof, we have all of the expertise needed to turn your vision into reality. Even the layout of our offices ensures that there are no walls between planners, architects, engineers and interior designers. And that core value extends to our clients. We make sure there are no barriers to prevent us from keeping our commitment to listen, to understand, and to deliver creative and innovative solutions to our clients.

At CDH, planning precedes design. Each team member provides input before it is too late or too costly to do what is best for the project. Part of this collaborative process means communicating with our clients enabling them to make informed decisions.

Our integrated design process ensures that we share a common understanding of our clients' visions and a common mission to push beyond the obvious solution in order to arrive at the best solution.

"Success always comes when preparation meets opportunity." – Henry Hartman

Create – Inspire – Connect

Every day at CDH we transform common building materials into places of healing, places of worship, places of learning...places to work, to live, and to play. We give form to ideas that shape the future. For over 30 years, we at CDH Partners have been driven not only to create inspiring buildings and spaces but also to invest our time, talent and energy to assist our clients in achieving long-term success.

We are a diverse group of architects, engineers, interior designers, and supporting staff, connected by a common sense of purpose. We are grateful for the success we have achieved and for the recognition we have received. But we are much more grateful for the opportunities we have been given to create and for the clients who keep returning, enlisting us to help transform their visions into reality.

"Vision animates, inspires, transforms purpose into action." – Warren Bennis

These projects represent a cross-section of not only building types, but of clients, programs and design disciplines. The common thread among these select projects cannot be found in any tangible signature CDH element, but in the processes from which they were forged – a collaborative design effort driven by a highly interactive dialogue with the client.

Ultimately, the trademark that sets a CDH building apart can be seen in how well it suits the needs of the people that inhabit and interact with it on a daily basis.
